

Sunday Evening Home Worship Guide

Open with prayer, giving thanks to God for who He is.

Jim Nantz quoted the new golf champion, Jordan Spieth when asked about how he remained humble in the face of great achievement. "My speaking about humility," Spieth said, "is very difficult because that wouldn't be humility." He's right. The apostle Paul has been said to be humble, but in case of any doubt, Paul himself indeed meant it when he said he was "chief" of sinners. When we are less than humble, we do not give Christ the glory. Instead, we seek to glorify ourselves, a vain and useless act. As others celebrate you, and they should, don't correct their kindness, just tell them you truly thank Christ Who makes all good things possible.

Read 1 Timothy 1:12 - 17

Discuss or ask yourself: Why did Paul consider himself "chief" of sinners? You've worked hard to achieve a goal, so why should you give the glory to Christ? If you did not, what would you be doing to your relationship with Christ? What would you be saying about Christ to others?

Close with prayer, giving thanks to God for who He is.
