

The Church in your house

In 1 Cor. 16:19 (RSV), Paul sends greetings to the Corinthians from the churches in Asia, and from Aquila and Prisca and the church that meets in their house. When families gather in their homes, and they read the Bible, discuss its meaning, and pray together, the home becomes a church. To do so is to engage in worship, for Jesus said, "For where two or three are gathered in my name, I am there among them" (Matt. 18:20). Homes were the center of the early Christian movement, and when we gather from all our homes and meet together in a building, we together make another home and even larger family. While we absolutely need the gathering together, we also absolutely need each home to be a church. How is the church in your home?

Tonight, take time to be a home church.
