Open with prayer, giving thanks to God for who He is.

A while back, a good friend helped me with a problem I had on the engine of my truck. Watching how he went about taking parts off, putting new parts on, testing the work he did, I understood the depth of just how much I didn't know. What took him an hour would've taken me four. That's just a truck. When life does not work well, God knows, we don't, and in part, that's why God expects us to trust Him. He gave us life, life eternal.

Read Proverbs 3:5 - 6.

Discuss or ask yourself: What is my responsibility when something in life is broken? Have I done what I can in this matter? Have I tried to control that which belongs to God?

Close with prayer, giving thanks to God for who He is.
